

“Deep down you will know how to help yourself.”

– Michalea, 34

My own survival plan

It can help to make your own plan for what to do when things feel really bad.

Try to find a time when you're feeling calm to make your plan. You could ask a friend or a health professional to help you write it.

Write your own answers to each question. Be really honest with yourself about what you need and what works for you. There are some examples on each page to help you think of different ideas.

For more information, check out the booklet 'Having suicidal thoughts and finding a way back' that goes with this.

My job or volunteer work

Things I haven't done yet, that I'm looking forward to

When I'm feeling bad, what are the things I can remember that are worth living for?

Get rid of things I might use to hurt myself – throw them away, lock them up or give them to friends

Get someone to stay with me

Avoid people who hurt or upset me

*Give my car keys
to a friend*

How can I make my environment safer, or take myself out of unsafe situations?

What I can do by myself

Go for a walk

Listen to music

breathing exercises or meditation*

How can I distract myself from these thoughts?

What are some things I'll be able to do even when I'm feeling really low?

Find a support group or community centre

Hang out in a public place, like a café, library or a busy park

Who can I connect with?

Spend time with my whānau

Call, txt, message, or go and visit a friend

Who can I be around that will help lift my mood?

Where can I go to connect with other people?

Make a list of supportive people you can talk to and their contact details.

If you're working with a doctor, counsellor or peer support worker, write their details here too.

If you don't know who you can talk to, try phoning a helpline or texting a text counselling service (details are on the back cover).
